Peter A Crowley FIA MEWI BSc

Peter Crowley, who established Windsor Actuarial Consultants in 2005, combines a wide experience of pensions and financial products with a speciality for explaining the concepts in plain English. He has experience of most aspects of company pension schemes, from technical design, financing and reporting, to member communication and support.

Peter also advises solicitors and other professionals on the individual aspects of pensions in divorce, compensation on the loss of pension rights, and reversions. He has produced a substantial number of reports on this subject, involving cases of varying complexity, and including overseas pensions. He lectures regularly on the subject, (Law Society accredited), and carries out peer reviews of other actuaries' pension work.

Immediately prior to establishing Windsor Actuarial, Peter worked for five years in the SIB Pension Review, gaining additional experience in UK pension schemes at a detailed level. His skills were used as an independent auditor of other actuaries' calculations.

He has substantial experience with major employee benefits consultants, including Mercer HR, Towers Perrin, and PIFC.

Peter qualified as a Fellow of the Institute of Actuaries (FIA) in 1987 and so has twenty years of qualified experience, and is an individual member of the Expert Witness Institute. He holds an Honours Degree in Mathematics from the University of Durham.
